Rohde Press Release. "Furnace builder Rohde GmbH from Germany continues contributing to save the environment through their salt recovery units. The photo shows three recently delivered SRU's: two to Croatia and one to Switzerland. The company has sold 15 of these units so far this year worldwide. One interesting thing is that Rohde sells SRUs to other furnace manufacturers as additional equipment for continuous furnace lines. The units recover and clean the quench salt from the washing water. Rohde is exhibiting at the upcoming FNA show in Nashville on booth no. 135." October 8/2014'
